

ROOSEVELT IN WORDY WAR IN CHILE

Former President in Heated Clash Over Monroe Doctrine with Marcial Martinez, Former Minister to the United States, Who Declares Doctrine Nothing But a Dead Shibboleth.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—(By Associated Press Cable)—It is reported here today that Col. Theodore Roosevelt, now in Santiago, Chile, clashed with Marcial Martinez, former minister to the United States during a reception at Santiago Saturday night. The verbal encounter was over the Monroe Doctrine and was followed by a demonstration against Roosevelt by a number of students at the conclusion of the feast.

The views of Roosevelt and Martinez were diametrically opposed on the question of the Monroe Doctrine. Martinez, during the course of his remarks, characterized the doctrine as a dead shibboleth. This was at once resented by Roosevelt, who heatedly declared that the Monroe Doctrine is still one of vital importance.

It is reported here that he followed this by the statement that it was ill-advised on the part of Martinez on such an occasion to inaugurate such a controversy.

It was at the conclusion of the reception, according to reports reaching here that a clique of students made a loud demonstration against Roosevelt, shouting "Viva Colombia." It is understood that this incident does not represent the general feeling of the people of Chile.

Diplomats in Washington are greatly interested in the incident as both speeches, that of Roosevelt as well as Martinez, were reviewed before delivery by members of the Foreign Office who consider the situation delicate.

HANKOW, China, December 7.—General Li Yuan-hung, the Vice President of the Republic, in a telegram to President Yuan advises the latter to confer the Grand Order of Merit upon Yuan Koting, son of the President, saying that the young Yuan did valuable service in the establishment of the Republic. The President in his reply declined on the ground that his son had not rendered service sufficient to deserve such a high honor.

BRISBANE, Queensland, Australia, December 22.—(By Associated Press Cable)—News brought here last night announced that a band of aboriginal cannibals in Neumeklenburg, northern Australia, attacked and massacred Doctor Deniger and another German scientist who was accompanying him, together with a party of fourteen natives. Doctor Deniger had been engaged in exploration work in northern Australia. Himself and party were in camp when they were surprised by the cannibals and killed before they could defend themselves.

Hard Tariff Times Driving Young Men Into the Army on Mainland

WASHINGTON, December 22.—(By Associated Press Cable)—An unusual condition is noted by the war department in the reports from recruiting stations throughout the United States for November showing a tremendous increase in the number of young men applying for enlistment in the Army. The returns show a total of five thousand applications for enlistment filed during the month of November. This is two thousand above the record for any similar time in the history of the country during time of peace.

Impressive Ceremonies Mark Obsequies of Cetewayo's Son in Transvaal

VRVHEID, Transvaal, November 23.—With impressive native ceremonial Dinizulu, the son of Cetewayo, was buried yesterday in the royal kraal of Zululand, in the presence of thousands of Zulus, who had come from all parts of Zululand. Dinizulu was converted to Christianity a few weeks ago, and a native clergyman conducted the service at the grave side, while the "Old Hymn-dread," Dinizulu's favorite hymn, was sung.

Mr. Kinsman, a white magistrate, attended the burial and expressed the government's condolences. Addressing the Indians, Mankulama, Dinizulu's prime minister, Mr. Kinsman said: "You regard Dinizulu as your king. Now that he is dead, we do not wish to deny you the expression of the feelings and sentiments which we ourselves experienced on the occasion of the death of our great King Edward. Therefore, the government allowed you to bring Dinizulu here to mourn him in your own way."

Replying to this brief address, Mankulama said: "We appreciate the government's concession to our natural feelings, but, truly, you white people are a nation of great inconsistencies. We fought against you in Cetewayo's day. We were overcome, and we gave you our allegiance. We thought there would then be peace, but truly your service is hard. Dinizulu never taught you, but you arrested him. Cetewayo is dead and buried. His son, whose death you have caused, lies here today. Let the feud cease. What kind of home is there which does not deny nor is forgotten?"

This speech appealed strongly to the Zulus present, and a wild demonstration might have followed but for the action of Mankulama, who firmly declined to allow any discussion.

The public proclamation of the accession of Dinizulu's heir, Salomon, had been previously made by Mankulama at a great meeting of 10,000 Zulus. This occasion afforded a spectacle even more striking than that of the funeral, a huge semi-circle of dark figures being assembled in front of the Royal kraal, while a heavy thunder storm overhung the surrounding hills, and frequent flashes of lightning imparted dramatic and dazzling brilliancy to the solemn gathering.

One Indian present ventured to suggest that the proclamation of Salomon's succession ought to receive government recognition. This proposal, however, was greeted with loud cries of dissent, and another Indian, who declared, "We don't know the white people in this matter," had his forthright remarks drowned by deafening shouts of opposition.

Some circumstances have been created among the farmers in the northern districts of Natal owing to the large number of Zulus going to Zululand to attend the funeral ceremonies, but there is no real cause for alarm, as the Zulus have behaved well.

Bermudez county, New Mexico, has a representation of schools who and have been an improved and substantial, but some of them have been and possibly participate their election.

CURRENCY BILL NEARLY READY

Conference Committee Holds a Sunday Session and Makes Rapid Progress in Reaching Agreement on Administration Measure—Expected That Congress Will Adjourn for Vacation Beginning Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—(By Associated Press Cable)—Rapid progress is being made by the conference committee in reaching an agreement on the disputed points in the Glass Currency Bill. After an all-day conference by the joint committee yesterday the measure was pushed almost to perfection.

With this agreement in sight it is expected that both houses on convening today will make preparations for a holiday vacation until January 12 beginning from tomorrow.

In the conference yesterday the committee agreed that the capital stock of each regional bank proposed in the Currency Bill shall be four million dollars. The house also accepted the senate provision fixing the number of regional banks at eight and giving the board power to increase the number to twelve if found necessary. The house measure originally provided for twelve regional banks.

The committee also agreed to drop the senate amendment to the measure which provided for an insurance fund for the guarantee of deposits in national banks.

Twenty Japanese, Prominent in Business and Social Affairs of Honolulu and Territory, Guests of Diplomat Who Has Handled Affairs of Japan So Well in Islands—Leaves for Tokio Today

(From Monday's Advertiser.) Twenty Japanese, including the leading publicists and business men of their community, gathered at the board of Consul General Etaki last night as his guests in a farewell banquet. The consul general leaves for Japan today on the Tenyo Maru, and will become His Imperial Majesty's minister to Siam, it is reported.

The banquet last night was the consul general's last official function in Honolulu, and his departure will be a distinct loss to the consular corps. Until his successor is appointed the consulate will be in charge of a secretary, who is to be sent from Japan to represent the government. There has been much speculation as to who the new consul general is to be, and the Japanese are now looking forward to welcoming the new secretary.

The banquet was informal. Mr. Etaki's guests, many of whom have been his associates in many ways relating to the progress and prosperity of Hawaii, complimenting him on his excellent record in Honolulu and congratulating him on the success which attended his efforts and secured his promotion.

Under Consul General Etaki's administration of Japanese consular affairs here the splendid new consulate on Nuuanu street has been constructed and many other substantial monuments to the Japanese community's well-being created. Attention was called at the banquet to the fact that during Mr. Etaki's residence here not a single dispute between the Japanese and American communities, nor the slightest friction, has arisen to mar their harmonious relations.

1913 Crop Amounts to 3000 Tons; More Than Enough for Feed Requirements on Big Estate

The season of 1913 was an exceptionally favorable one for the Island corn crop. There was an increase in acreage all over the group. The result has been that importations of this grain from the Coast have ceased. A. W. Carter, manager of the Parker Ranch, began experimenting with this crop at Waikiki, Hawaii, about eight years ago. He tested varieties, got the best and most up-to-date plows, cultivators, shredders and other farm machinery. As soon as he had mastered the various varieties and methods the rancher proceeded to grow corn as they do in the prairie corn belt. The 1913 crop on the Parker Ranch is nearly 3000 tons. The manager estimates that he will have a surplus of about 500 tons over ranch requirements. Experiments are now under way in fattening cattle and hogs. It will probably not be very many years before this ranch will be sending a quality of beef to the Honolulu market that is better than the best "corn-fed" cuts obtainable in the Kansas City and Chicago markets.

The Parker Ranch has found that cattle cannot be fattened profitably on our own alone. They have tried out feedings and believe that it will solve the problem of a satisfactory "roughage." They already have concrete silos to hold over 1000 tons and are building new ones as rapidly as the income of the ranch warrants increase in the farm available for permanent improvements.

Villafra was a graduate of the medical school and the main aim of the revolutionary government was to liberate the country from the influence of the foreign doctors.

Immediately upon his release he returned to his old standing ground in Cuba.

At the present rate of increase it is probable that the Chinese population will be one of the 10 million by the year 1920.

Champlain's Cough Remedy is the largest selling cough medicine in the world today because it does exactly what a cough medicine is supposed to do. It cures coughs and colds quickly and effectively. Put it in all druggists, grocers, and everywhere.

After More Than Two Years Mona Lisa is Finally Restored to France

MONA LISA, ONE OF WORLD'S MOST NOTED PAINTINGS.

ROME, December 22.—(By Associated Press Cable)—After a search that has extended around the world since September, 1911, Mona Lisa, the famous painting which disappeared from the National Museum at Paris at that time, was ceremoniously delivered to the French ambassador here yesterday. Beyond the expression of gratitude at being able to return the great masterpiece and a feeling reply of thanks on the part of the French ambassador in receiving the painting the ceremony was not marked by any special incident. Great care will be used in returning the painting in charge of special guards to its former position on the wall of the National Museum of France.

President Kamada Expresses His Views to Countrymen After Tour of America

(From Monday's Advertiser.) President Eiichi Kamada of the Keio Gijuku, who passed through Honolulu recently on the Shinyo Maru, has arrived at Tokio and given out his first interview to his countrymen since returning from a tour of Europe and America.

He speaks at some length on the Mexican situation as well as on conditions among the Japanese in California. Japan is not the first nation to have its subjects barred from this country, he says, and urges his people not to lose courage but to persevere until they are given recognition here.

He says in his interview published in the Japan Times of December 6: "Though it is impossible to make any hasty judgment on the intentions of the American Government with regard to Mexico, it is true that the American Government refuses to recognize Huerta's government. President Wilson is bound to maintain this policy as he formerly declared that he was not going to recognize any government which came to power by an act contrary to the principles of humanity. It is also a fact that Huerta having gained power by the support of Europe, especially of Great Britain, his policy is not to the best political and economic interests of the United States. In a state, where order is not fully established, like Mexico, the national ruler is one who controls military power, and Huerta has such power. In view of the opposition from America, however, Huerta will probably make one of his followers president."

"In California, it is necessary that the Japanese should be discouraged on account of the temporary blow to their interests. They must stick to the ground tenaciously and fight their way. Not only the Japanese, but other nationalities, like Hungarians and Italians, were equally excluded from America one time or another. But they were not cowed by the exclusion, but stayed and have achieved the present progress. The Japanese should not rely upon the government work alone, but make efforts themselves to lay foundations of their developments in America."

QUEEN MARY WINS WAY TO MINERS' HEARTS

LONDON, December 5.—Queen Mary's recent visit to the homes of aged and sick miners at Pinner, near London, is made the subject of an enthusiastic letter to John Wilson, a labor leader in parliament, who is also secretary of the Durham Miners' Association. He pointed out numerous incidents of the Queen's kindness of heart and the genuine manner in which she treated the miners, particularly in the homes of those who were ill, comforting them with the presence of her hand and more tender words. She showed keen attention of the way in which the sickness and infirmities were cared and after the smallest article of furniture or household article which was needed she was quick to supply it.

"It has given me a place in their hearts," wrote Mr. Wilson, "which never will be obliterated so long as their memory lasts."

Good Crowd Turns Out to Witness Aerial and Aquatic Pageant at Peninsula

(From Monday's Advertiser.) Several hundred persons enjoyed the aerial and aquatic pageant at Pearl Harbor yesterday afternoon, with Tom Gunn in his hydroplane as the star performer.

There were yacht races, swimming matches, canoe races, motorboat speed tests and several stunts aloft by the Chinese aviator on the program, and while the crowd was not as large as had been anticipated, they expressed themselves as well-satisfied with the day's entertainment.

Gunn made two flights in his hydroplane. In the first trip into the clouds he showed how easy it is to handle an airplane if you know how, and after remaining in the air fully twenty minutes came toward the water with the gracefulness of a bird.

Unfortunately he miscalculated his distance and the bottom of the pontoon was badly ripped, while one of the propellers was misplaced.

As soon as these were repaired Gunn dressed himself to represent Santa Claus, and from his airship began distributing prizes to the spectators below. Several useful and valuable packages were dropped, and these fortunate enough to secure a prize were well pleased with what Santa Claus gave them.

After Gunn had given his part of the program, Redemptor brothers brought forth their speedy motorboat Dot II, and for fully half an hour cruised about the harbor at a speed of thirty miles or more an hour.

WILSON'S SMILE LOOKED UP

NEW YORK, December 21.—The local organization of "Smiles," as the members of the "Society for the Prevention of Unhappy Living" style themselves, plan to play host Christmas Day to every lonely person in the city.

There is to be a Christmas party and Christmas tree in Grand Central Palace for the lonely.

Announcement of the plan was made by Kate Douglas Wiggin (Mrs. George Higgin) tonight. Twenty thousand guests are expected. To defray the expense of the entertainment the "Smiles" are making voluntary contributions, placing their offerings in a large silver box at headquarters. The aim is to spread Christmas cheer.

We want to bring the ubiquitous spirit of good will to everybody in the city who would not have it otherwise. Mrs. Wiggin repeated the "Smiles" by force in the promotion of the Christmas party as well as the prevention of lonely lives.

CHURCH HOLDS CHRISTMAS SERVICES

Anniversary of Redeemer's Birth Appropriately Observed by Sunday Services at Christian Union; Special Program in the Morning as Well as During the Evening.

(From Monday's Advertiser.) Christmas Sunday filled Central Union Church at both services yesterday, and both brought home to the men and women present the significance of the Day of the Redeemer's birth, when the spirit is that of giving, as God gave his Son to the world on that Day. Both services yesterday were largely musical, the uplifting of sweet harmonies in worship, but at the evening service it was accentuated by a Christmas cantata, "The Morn of Glory," by Fred. W. Pence.

But first at the evening service was that old Scotch Christmas carol, "Noel Eocsaia," by Guilman, which was rendered by Arthur B. Ingalls on the great organ with sincere feeling. Then followed the responsive reading, "The Word Was Made Flesh"; prayer by Rev. Mr. Ebersole and then came the cantata. In this beautiful musical inspiration from the pages of the Bible the choir and the soloists seemed dominated by their theme, while the great congregation which filled the church was responsive in full degree.

Morning Services. The program for the morning service was as follows:

Organ Prelude—Prelude on Christmas Themes—Guilman
Devotional—The Lord's Prayer—All Standing
Confession of Sin—All Standing
Hymn—"Nativity" (Lo in the Eastern Sky)—Shelley
Choir
Responsive Reading—The Gloria—Pastoral Prayer—Response—"Holy Night"—Gruber

Evening Services. At the evening services the choir, led by Mr. Ingalls on the organ, and the soloists were at their best. The choir of Central Union Church is composed of Mrs. Bruce McV. Mackall, Mrs. Charles L. Hall, sopranos; Mrs. Walter M. Kendall and Mrs. Chester J. Hunt, altos; Arthur P. Wall and J. A. Hill, tenors; George A. Brown and Dr. S. D. Barnes, basses. Mr. A. B. Ingalls was the violinist.

The story of "The Morn of Glory" is that of the prophecies of the coming of the Messiah, and thus on to the offerings of the kings at the feet of the Babe in the manger, as follows:

"The Morn of Glory."
I. Abraham Foretold—Recitative and Solo (Contralto); There Shall Come a Star—Recit. (Tenor); Trust Ye in the Lord (Chorus).

PHILIPPINES HAS NEW UP TO DATE SLAVERY LAW

The slavery bill has become law having passed both houses of the legislature, after being entirely and completely changed from what it was when sent up to the commission of the lower house, says the Manila Times News American. As it now stands, it is complete and covers every possible form of peonage and slavery. It is in full force and effect now.

A large number of prosecutions are expected in the near future in Manila. What to do with the released children remains to become a problem.
